VOCATIONAL

Highlights from the Year

Closed the retail Garden Center but launched a new vocational option for residents called Greenscape, which helps maintain landscaping throughout our nearly 120-acre campus.

Partnered with four new customers:

- Calbee, a Japanese Snack company founded in 1949. Since starting, residents have packaged 2,445,504 individual snack bags.
- Orgill, founded in 1847 and the world’s largest, privately owned hardlines distributor.
- American Paper Optics, the world’s largest manufacturer of paper 3D eyewear. Residents packaged 631,040 pairs of eyewear.
- Willingham’s BBQ Products was founded by Memphis native John Willingham. WHAM products are renowned worldwide in the culinary world.

Added new projects with five existing customers.

Made a landmark and strategic decision to not renew the Department of Labor 14c Certificate, which was set to expire in March of 2023 and permitted wage less than federal minimum wage. At the time the certificate expired, more than 50% of the workforce was earning more than the minimum wage.

Jimmy

Baddour Custom Packaging's 2022 Vocational Resident of the Year

"It made me feel real good to be Vocational Resident of the Year," shared Jimmy (above left). "I love Dan, my supervisor. He's so much fun to work with, and I love my job working outside. I like watering the plants and pulling the weeds. Whatever Dan needs me to do out there, I do it. I'm super good at watering the plants."

"Jimmy is not only my hardest worker, but he does every job with a smile on his face and with pure joy. He's kind and considerate of others, and he asks about my family all the time, which I think is so touching," said Dan Seever, Greenscape Manager (above right). "I'd be hard pressed to find a better, friendlier, or all-around more loving person than Jimmy. I'm glad to know him and blessed to work with him."
